

The 10 branches of the Da Costa Gomez family of Curacao:

Compiled by: Randal Da Costa Gomez <randalok@hotmail.com>

I The Scharloo Branch

Areas where the branch had developed:

This branch consists mostly of the Jewish descendents of SAMUEL DA COSTA GOMEZ [ca.1738-1799], a branch that has developed before 1820 in the Punda district, and later in Pietermaai and Scharloo district of Willemstad. After 1820 some members of this branch went to (do business) and settle also in some Caribbean islands like the (then Danish and nowadays American) island of St. Thomas and in some Latin American cities and they added also these cities as their trading bases with the most famous of them being Maracaibo in Venezuela. Most of the members of this branch that stayed on Curacao during the 19th and 20th century were prominent local businessmen and they will remain living in the eastern part of Willemstad especially in the Pietermaai and Scharloo districts until the 1950's and doing business in the Punda district. Most of the members of this branch are Jews (thus born from a Jewish mother) or have a Jewish father.
